concerns using large fleets of Chevrolets are many of the leaders of American industry. In fact, 73 outstanding business firms have purchased a to of 27,605 Chevrolet cars and trucks.

The reason for this preference lies in the unexcelled economy of Chevrolet cars and trucks, as proved by official cost records. These records show that 20 miles to the gallon is a common occurrence among Chevrolet cars. That oil expense is extremely low. That Chevrolet cars and trucks require only a minimum of service attention. That they give satisfactory low-cost service over exceptionally long periods of time.

Naturally, a car with such a fine record investment for any buyer! Especially so, when you consider the many advantages that Chevrolet offers above and beyond economical operation. Come in and learn what these advantages are—what they mean in terms of style, comfort, safety,

'Decoration' Day

There was a time, within the men ory of those of us who have reached the age of discretion, when Memorial day was a fine holiday indeed, with lively goings-on to impress its signifi-cance upon us. In the morning Main street would blossom out in a mag-nificent array of red, white and blue, and all through the forenoon there would be a hum in the air that be tokened enterprises of great pith and moment; ladios would dart hither and yon carrying great baskets of sand wiches, and horses would trot ur street dragging carryalis full of folk from the country. In the lunch hour there was a full while the sand-wiches were being consumed; but by the zero hour, 2 o'clock in the afternoon, everything was ready and thing began to happen.

On the town green assembled the town carpenter, the keeper of the livery stable, the owner of the Acme furniture store, the town constable, the president of the First National bank. the teacher of mathematics in the high school, the driver of the express wag-on, the agent at the steamboat wharf and the judge of the Circuit courtprosaic old gentlemen all, and on other days of the calendar dignitaries to be greeted respectfully but with no great show of awe. Today, however, they show of awe. Today, however, they were an air of vast importance: they were togged in blue suits of impresive cut, somehow reminiscent of the pictures in the history book, and they wore hats of the sort affected by the inte William Frederick Cody, wh the crown was adorned with a gold wrenth and the letters "G. A. R.," lending a very military appearance to the whole turnout.

Suffice it to say that the exercises, while somewhat puzzling as to their import, were agreeably vociferous, and when they had come to an end we all felt that a great deal had been accomplished. On the way back been accomplished. On the way bick to town, if there was not a thunderstorm, there was a great deal of dust, so that the blue uniforms, so impressive in the afternoon, were by evening the least bit bedraggled.

Younger Folks Take Charge.

Or were they? Perhaps they only seemed so. For by this time the heroes who wore them were quite forgotten; ATENTS the evening was given over to a town dance, and the young people were in full charge. Vallantly the veterans tried to hold the limelight. Seeing its possibilities he was not satisfied until he had possessed himself of it, which upon the payment of a large sum of money.

It was evening when the rich brother got the quern home, and next morning, it being the time of hay harvest, he sent his wife out into the hay field to turn over the hay which was being cut that it might the more quickly dry, and he agreed to stay at home and get the dinner. When dinner time came he put the quern upon the table and suid. table and said.

"Grind herrings and broth and grind them good and fast." The quern began to grind until the table was covered and the kitchen floor, and he was forced to open the door to let the flood of herrings and broth out. He had learned how to start the machine but he had neglected to discover how it could be stopped and the yard and the streets and the fields were in danger of being covered with herrings and broth like a great lava stream. It was only when he rushed frantically to his brother that the quern was stopped.

A TRIBUTE TO SERVICE

In a recent address on the 25th an niversary of the San Francisco fire William Butterworth, President o the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said: "Fire insurance is a very essential part of American business. It constitutes an important foundation of credit, of industry merchandising and of shipping. To-day it protects some 240 billion dol-ars worth of property.

"When the home has been laid to ashes, insurance has provided the needed shelter and aided in building anew. When the property that has been accumulated, great or small, has been dostroyed by flames, insurance has helped make good the loss. Against practically all the destructive contingencies that assail life or property, health, or seturity against disaster, insurance is the ready and he strong protector."

In other words, stock fire insurance is the cornerstone of all business, of all social and industrial exist ence and progress. Without the protection afforded by insurance, the that could in a few minutes time, the goods and iron until the garment lighted matches, cigar and cigarette that dwyl can and world civilization owe a remove the shiny gloss on heims, tromendous debt to the institution of tucks, or reams, mointen a piece of insurance.

your heroic resistance." Joffre had told the pollu; and the latter's measure was taken at Verdun, for nowhere else in all the atroclous war was such an abyss of torment in store for him. "He has learned much who has known pain," wrote the author of "The Song of Roland", and there was such pain and suffering at Verdun as had never been known before. Verdun was the great charnel house where it was necessary to stand firm with death over-liead, under foot and on all sides.

The soldier of Verdun was unquestionably well commanded and well maneuvered; yet to such leaders were given incomparable soldiers. soldiers stood fast in mud. cold, snow and under torrents of fire against numberless attacks. Tormented with

Farm Notes

Feed the dairy heifer enough grain in addition to pasture-so she will gain from 1 to 11/2 pounds a day.

Do not let mature rabbits get too fat unless you are going to utilize them for food. Overfat animals often full to breed and may die from excessive heat. Young rabbits, while growing, may be fed twice a day all they will clean up in 30 minutes.

The potato leafhopper injures potatoes by feeding on the foliage and also causes hopperburn, a disease which sometimes in dry weather ruins a whole potato crop in one or two weeks. Spraying with Bordeaux says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is the way to control the leafhopper and prevent hopperburn.
The 4-4-50 formula is used most commonly. Make at least three applicanecessary. Apply the spray to the undersides of the leaves on both sides of the row, using at least 150 pounds of pressure to obtain a fine mist.

Feeding a grain supplement with pasture to young cattle—whether fat-tening 2-year-old steers or nursing calves--tends to produce heavier and more highly finished carcasses in a shorter time, than on grass alone the Bureau of Animal Industry found Feeding grain to spring calves before weaning increases their weight and finish enough to permit their sale as fat young beeves in the fall they are about 8 months old. It is net possible to produce a desirable beef carcass at this age on grass and milk alone, says the bureau.

White rot of onion is relatively new to America. It is a disease which may be brought into this country on onions and garlic imported Europe, where it is widespread and distructive. Any outbreak of this disease should be reported, and specimens of diseased plants sent to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. White rot usualty appears in cool moist weather in spring or autumn.
The first signs are yellowing and wilting of the leaves, followed later by complete collapse of the top. Diseased plants may be pulled up very easily, as the roots are almost entire ly destroyed.

The farmer can't know the true value of his dairy bulls until he has tecords of the bulls' daughters, says the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Select bulls whose pedigrees ind cate that they have a good chance of possessing an inheritance that will determine high levels of producin a limited way until their daughters prove their value, let the butcher have the buils that do not come up to a certain standard, and keep in service only those that have demonstrated their ability to improve the

Statue Held Symbol of Unity of Two Peoples

Senor Daniel V. del Burgo, consut general of Chile in this country, has given a most interesting description of "The Christ of the Andes," the inspiring sculpture which stands at a mountainous elevation of 4,000 meters (18,000 feet) on the Chilean-Argentine frontier, says the newspaper La Verdad, of Caracus, Venezuela. Senor del Burgo says of this appealing figure that the suggestion for its establishment came from seeing the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. It is seven meters high (28 feet) and weighs three tons. It can be perceived for many kilometers on all the routes connecting the two republics of Argenting and Chile and is held in ven-eration by the peoples of both nations because it was erected, in 1902, to see and commemorate the peaceful settle-ment of the final disputes between the two great South American republics. It was the women of these two countries who collected most of the funds necessary to defray the cost of the statue and its transportation and grection and whose influence was most exerted on the respective government to provide a site and perpetual maintenance for the monument. "The Christ of the Andes" stands in a long-Christ of the Andes" stands in a long-ly and desolate spot, much the same, no doubt, as the wilderness in which "The Man of Sorrows" spent 40 days of his life in prayer and fasting. Yet the statue is not feelly lonely not deserted, but visited constantly by thouserted, but visited constantly by thou-sands in their journeys to and fro, who call it, too, "The Christ of Amity," for this statue is the symbol of the bonds of friendship which henceforth and forever knit these two peoples together in a Christian fellowship.

indicating how savings could be made by the sale of old Indian posts, navy shore stations, coast artillery fortifications, and yards and other shore properties of the navy that are no longer needed for purposes of national defense. Secretary Hurley said the other day that the administration desired to remove army posts from the "pork barrel" classification, and it seems that a mean those possiblered seems that among those considered superfluous are Fort Lincoln, North Dakota; Fort Mende, South Dakota; Fort Missoula, Montana; Fort Eustis, Virginia, and various posts along the Mexican border. Some air flying fields also may be abandoned. How far the expenses of the military establishments can be cut is problematical. The last annual supply bill for the War department carried about $445,000,000, of which approximately $111,-000,000 vas to be devoted to nonmili-tary activities. The latter figure in-cluded $00,000,000 for rivers and har-hors and $35,000,000 for Mississippi. floor control.

As for the navy, it is known that civilian labor cost that department $79,000,000 last year. Some official investigators have estimated the Navy department personnel at Washington could be cut as much as 40 per cent without impairing efficiency.

Congression in whose states are tocated the obsolete army posts and surplus shore statious probably will fight against their abandonment, that being their habit in matters of this sort, but if economies are applied throughout all the executive departments their political wrath may be
